

Thoughts

This is a collection of some thoughts from my experience in academia. A lot of what's written here has probably been said before in one way or another.

Reproducibility, Inclusivity, and Open Science

I argue that open source software is important for reproducibility, both in the sense that the setup of an experiment must be well described, and in the sense that it is important to include as many groups and people in the reproduction process as possible.

Power Structures in Academia

in progress

Mental Health in Academia

in progress